

Putting a Canon EOS 40D to the test

Written by Neil Gray

Friday, 06 June 2008 18:08 - Last Updated Thursday, 27 September 2012 11:02

6 June 2008 I finally took the plunge and upgraded my Canon EOS 20D. The camera of choice is the EOS 40D. So off to the Kruger Park for the weekend 31 May-1 June where I put the new camera through its paces. I firmly believe the bigger sensor and the Digic III processor make this one of the best semi-professional digitals on the market. Let the images speak for themselves. I feel there is a "crispness" to the images that I could not achieve with the 20D.

The great majority of the images taken after 30 May 2008 will have been taken with the EOS 40D - except for those taken in Zambia and the DRC.

Neil